You Have Left Your Lotus Pods on the Bus

Summer Group Show Curated by Julia Trotta and Glynnis McDaris

Thursday, June 30th - Saturday, July 30th 2011

Exhibition Opening: Thursday, June 30th, 6:00-8:00 p.m.

Screening at Anthology Film Archives: Tuesday, July 19th, 7:30-9:30 p.m.

Artists in the exhibition include Davide Balula, Ellie Ga, Gelitin, Fritz Henle, Babette Mangolte, Corey McCorkle and Glynnis McDaris.

Drawing inspiration for the show's title from the inveterate traveler and author, Paul Bowles, You Have Left Your Lotus Pods on the Bus addresses artists who are using a geographic location as subject or collaborator. The show specifically focuses on work that features artists' experience, interaction, documentation, and reaction to new environments.

Work in the show ranges from Ellie Ga's cast made aboard a research ship stationed in the Arctic Ocean, where she lived and worked for a year and a half, to Fritz Henle's photographs of petroglyphs found in the Caribbean, a place that fascinated him throughout his life, to Corey McCorkle's sculpture, based on a 19th Century drawing of an American traveler touring Japan.

As an extension of the exhibition, there will be a free film screening at Anthology Film Archives on Tuesday, July 19th from 7:30 - 9:30 p.m. Artists in the screening include Ellie Ga, Fritz Henle, Marine Hugonnier, Babette Mangolte, Corey McCorkle, Elisa Pone, Agnes Varda, and others.
